TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB HAS FLAG RAISING SERVICE

Impressive Ceremony Takes Place In Front Of New Home; Large Number of People Inspect Building and Furnishings

By KATHERINE VIRGINIA SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

WHILE a troop of khaki-clad Boy Scouts stood at attention, surrounded by a company of several hundred club members and friends, the Stars and Stripes were raised for the first time Monday afternoon over the new Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at the corner of Central Avenue and Lexington drive, marking the opening of the new building and the realization of a dream the club members have dreamed ever since organization a quarter of a century ago.

It was an event long anticipated by club members and friends and long before the hour set for the flag raising ceremony Central avenue and Lexington drive were lined with automobiles and club members and guests grouped on both sides of the street.

Promptly at 2:45 o'clock H. Benjamin Robison, Scoutmaster of Troop 2, grouped eight Scouts about the flag pole, Arthur Barton, Floyd Craft, Horace Brown, Robert Eastman and Charles Wyman of Troop 2; and Charles Bosserman, Robert Ayars and Glen Cunningham of Troop 3. The company gathered for the ceremony, grouped about, the club officers standing on the entrance walk and steps leading into the social quarters.

Call to Colors

Assembly was called by Bugler Floyd Craft. He then sounded the "Call to the Colors" and after firing a cannon salute the flag was raised and the pledge to the flag was given by the entire crowd. The invocation was given by Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the First Congregational church and member of the Scout Council. Singing of one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner" was led by Scoutmaster Robison. The flag was a gift from Mr. and Mrs. John Robert White.

An added feature of this part of the afternoon was the presentation of a beautiful silk flag and standard for the club house auditorium. The flag is a gift from the General Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and the presentation was made by Mrs. S. C. Leppelman to Mrs. E. Dow, patriotic chairman of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Throw Open Doors

The doors of the clubhouse were then formally opened, officers and directors receiving in the reception and lounge rooms; past presidents receiving in the foyer; and chairmen and curators, committee and section members serving on the entertainment committee about the building.

Receiving in the lounge room were Mesdames Daniel Campbell, A. H. Montgomery, C. W. Houston, John C. Lunn, Frank Ayars, M. E. Plasterer, H. E. Bartlett, J. T. Crampton, A. P. Findlay, E. W. W. Hayward, A. A. Barton and John Robert White.

During the afternoon punch and cakes were served in the banquet room by Mrs. Colin Cable,

Proposed Evacuation of Ruhr Paves Way To Peace Parley

LONDON, March 13. — The Franco-Belgian decision reached at Brussels to evacuate the Ruhr and Rhineland automatically and in proportion as Germany pays her reparations bill was regarded in diplomatic circles here today as a bid to Germany to make an offer for a settlement.

Thehre is a feeling that the door to peace has been slightly opened and it is intimated that the French are hopeful that outside powers, notably Great Britain and the United States, will now bring pressure to bear upon Germany or at least try to persuade Germany to make an offer for settlement.

It is realized that Germany would probably fall back upon the argument that she cannot raise money to pay indemnity so long as the French and Belgians hold the German coal mines and industries. In this event, it would be necessary for the intervening powers to make representations to France and Belgium. France's latest decision, in cooperation with Belgium, is regarded as the cleverest diplomatic move that has been made since the Ruhr was entered.

Boy Bandit Dies After He Is Wounded In Pistol Duel

LOS ANGELES, March 13. — Joseph Herman, 18-year-old "boy bandit" died at the receiving hospital early today after he had been fatally wounded by two policemen during an attempted robbery. Herman's last words were:

"My name is Joseph Herman. I'm a burglar and don't care who knows it, and have been in the New York reformatory. I don't care if I die. Don't bother me."

Two patrolmen hurried to the home of A. Johnson in Cahuenga avenue, Hollywood, shortly after midnight, following a report that a burglar was ransacking the Johnson home. One of the officers saw Herman in the house and ordered him to put his hands. Disregarding the command the boy emptied his gun at the officers and dashed for liberty. A rain of bullets from the officers followed and sent the boy, fatally wounded, to the floor. He was rushed to the receiving hospital, where he died a few minutes later.

Jewelry, thought to have been taken from other robberies were found on the dead boy's person, the police say.

Harding Houseboat Floated After Spell in Florida Mud

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 13.—After being stuck in the mud intermittently over a period of some twenty-four hours, the presidential houseboat Pioneer, bearing the president and Mrs. Harding, was floated this morning at high tide and the journey toward Miami was resumed at a snail's pace.

Hard luck instead of "Harding luck" has camped persistently on the Pioneer's trail ever since leaving Palm Beach.

It was problematical today when the president would reach Miami and the end of his vacation cruise from the waters of Northern Florida. If favored by tide and the mud the boat should pull into Florida's southernmost resort by Wednesday morning, but those aboard the Pioneer were none too sanguine.

LOCAL LINES TO CARE FOR INCREASING DEMANDS

Credit Association Back of Project; Not to Enter L. A. at Present time

ESTABLISHMENT of a motor bus system that will take care of the growing needs for transportation in Glendale is assured within a short time as a result of the action taken by the members of the Glendale Credit Association at its regular weekly meeting yesterday, according to Ed N. Radke, chairman of the committee that has been investigating the question of transportation here.

The plan, as adopted by the association, is to have the organization sponsor a movement to furnish busses to run on the streets of Glendale, the capital for the project to be subscribed by local business men. Six busses will be bought at the start, and as conditions justify it this number will be increased to meet the demands that will be imposed on them. At a later date, it is intimated, the bus system may be taken over by the city of Glendale and conducted as a municipal line, assurances to this effect having been made by city officials. No permit from the State Railroad commission will be required to operate a purely local bus service, the only condition required being the granting of a permit by the city authorities.

Banks Back Plan

The question of running a bus line into Los Angeles has been left in abeyance for the present, pending the complete development of the local system. The proposed company that is to be formed by the Glendale Credit association has been assured of support from several of the Glendale banking institutions, and assurances have already been received from a number of Glendale business men, both active and retired, of their willingness to aid in financing the project. It is also the intention of the men behind the movement to employ citizens of Glendale in every possible position in the new company, both as executives and drivers, and plans are now under consideration by which the drivers of the busses may be permitted to acquire a share, if not entire ownership, in the busses under

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB HAS STIRRING FLAG RAISING SERVICE

Ceremony Takes Place Yesterday Afternoon In Front of Attractive New Home

chairman of the hospitality committee and Mesdames Barton Manbert, W. E. Farlander, J. C. Waite, W. E. Cleveland, John King, Charles Temple, Albert Pearce, H. H. Pettit and Charles Jones.

Pleasing Feature

An enjoyable feature of the reception was the music furnished in the auditorium by the Arion Trio, including Mrs. Enona Hopkins, harpist; Miss Neva Childberg, violin; and Miss Mary Tyner, cellist.

For many months club officers and members have worked together towards funds for building and furnishing their new home and yesterday when they extended their hospitality to all Glendalians, hostesses and guests realized that sacrifice and tireless effort had not been in vain.

The clubhouse itself is indeed a masterpiece in California-Spanish architecture, the work of Alfred F. Priest of Glendale.

Beautiful Home

Mr. Priest designed a beautiful home for the club women to furnish, and the success attained by Mrs. W. E. Evans, chairman of the furnishings committee, and her assistants, Mesdames H. R. Boyer, C. O. Pulliam, W. P. MacMullin and Harry Lockwood was reflected in the compliments showered on them yesterday, predicting that the clubhouse will be widely recognized for its artistic furnishings.

In the original fund at the command of the furnishings committee there was approximately $5800, and this was augmented by an addition of $1500 from the non-section members, under the leadership of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means, making a total of approximately $7300 with which to artistically and adequately furnish the new club home.

Even with unlimited resources furnishings are always a problem, but when given a limited fund and a building of the type of the new club house, a real problem is confronted, and Mrs. Evans and her committee members are deserving of the highest praise for executing their duties economically and artistically.

Necessities First

Realizing their limitation, Mrs. Evans and her assistants began with necessities. They first provided for the floor coverings, which was a big item because of the large floor space. They spent $3000 for this need.

Next they turned their attention to the windows, which required an expenditure of $1490.

There was then approximately $2800 at their command for the rest of the furnishings, and when one has visited the clubhouse and seen the attractive furnishings and arrangements he marvels at the cleverness of the furnishings committee.

The foyer is carpeted with a wonderfully fine heavy carpet, gray, shot with black. The carpet entirely covers the foyer and runs down the aisles of the auditorium and across in front of the orchestra pit to the exits at either side of the stage.

Curtains over the auditorium windows are of putty-colored friar's cloth, while the curtains at the entrances from the foyer and exits at the sides of the stage are of taupe velvet.

Period Furniture

In the entrances from the foyer the velvet curtains are double, Italian red hanging in the foyer and the taupe in the auditorium. An Italian table occupies a place on the stage.

Renaissance period furniture predominates. In the foyer just in front of the entrance and between the two entrances into the auditorium are two Spanish chairs, with mohair and needlework designs.

On the stairs leading up to the men's and women's parlors is heavy, coarse gray carpet. The parlors have not been furnished as yet.

Grass furniture was selected for the palm room and blends perfectly with the Bachelder tile fountain and the rustic background presented by the masses of plants and other greenery.

Protects Floor

One of the big items on the floor covering list is the immense canvas cover on the banquet floor. The floor is of fine maple and in order to preserve its beauty and use for dancing, the canvas will always be used except for dancing. It is brown canvas, harmonizing with the coloring of the room. Henna-colored door drapes were selected for the banquet room French doors.

The beauty of the little Italian tea room has been enhanced by the use of a green flax rug, butter-colored reed furniture, reed fern baskets and orange, black and yellow cretonne drapes.

In the hallway leading from the tea room through to the dressing room and reception room, a mauve colored flax rug is used.

The little dressing room is finished in gray and a little gray enamel dressing table and chair furnished this room. A special furnishing feature is the ivory dresser set marked T. A. C. in gold. The drapes are of cretonne with bright blue and rose design.

Reception Room.

In the reception room a Whitall Wilton rug in taupe with black over-figure is used. A Spanish period chair with red upholstery is a piece of furniture selected for this room by the committee.

In the reception room and elsewhere about the club house antique gold gauze with black bullion fringe has been used on the windows and French doors and on the sunburst windows over the round transoms. Of course some of the windows and doors have only velvet hangings, while other windows, such as in the kitchen and panty, have ecru net curtains. However, the antique gold is much in evidence in the prominent rooms.

The lounge room has won a place in the heart of everyone who has visited the building. It has green blue velvet drapes, lined with ecru sateen, hanging from clever wrought iron fixtures. These were the only furnishings purchased from the original fund.

The other furnishings in this room were bought with the $1500 raised by the non-section members. The rug is a thick Wilton in taupe. There is a large davenport and one chair in brown mohair with rose undertone. In addition there are two overstuffed mohair pieces; a Renaissance inlaid, antique mahogany desk and chair; a small end table; another chair with blue and rose satin damask.

Some of the other things purchased by the furnishings committee were the sand and blue awnings for the windows looking out from the lounge onto Central avenue; $1100 worth of folding chairs and tables, accommodating 360 persons; coat racks for all dressing rooms, damask window shades, day bed for custodian's department, fixtures for dressing rooms.

The above facts represent the purchases of the furnishings committee with the fund at their command. Adding to their purchases are numerous gifts, which with countless floral greetings received Monday completed the house arrangement for the housewarming.

A visit to the building yesterday brought to one's attention the following gifts:

Special mention should also be made of the palm trees donated by the City Council for the clubhouse grounds. The trees have been moved and planted and add greatly to the California-Spanish atmosphere.

An added fact of interest about the furnishings purchased by the furnishings committee is that $2444 was spent in Glendale.

Mob Attack Against Jail To Get Slayer, Is Threat

VANCOUVER, Wash., March 13.—Convinced beyond doubt that the home of Ed Whitfield, charged with the murder of 11 year old Anna Nesko, was burned by angered neighbors, authorities today are exercising much discretion in protecting other members of the family.

Rumors of a mob attack against the county jail to get young Whitfield have been rampant here. Nothing has developed so far. Authorities on first hearing of the fire believed it a ruse to get them to Battle Ground so that the jail would be left unprotected for the mob to secure Whitfield.

John Whitfield, detained as a material witness in the case, has been released from custody. He left for Portland, saying he feared a "necktie" party if he remained in Battle Ground.

Secret Service Agents Get Plates For Bogus $20 Bills

SEATTLE, Wash., March 13.—Plates with which 14,400 worth of bogus $20 bills were made in a Seattle boathouse, were found behind a log in Madronna park late yesterday by federal secret service agents following the arrest and alleged confession of Paul Dimm. Patrick E. Sullivan, arrested in Vancouver, B. C., February 26, and Robert Yates, Fred Elkins and Edward Nicodemus, under arrest in San Francisco, are implicated in Dimm's confession.

Captain W. R. Jarrell, in charge of the Seattle secret office, says all members of the gang are now in jail and is inclined to believe Sullivan's story that the counterfeiters were planning to co-operate with whiskey runners and bootleggers.

Paint Store Becomes Raging Inferno When Oil Explodes

LINCOLN, Neb., March 13.—Fire of uncertain origin which broke out in the basement of a glass and paint store in the heart of the business district early this morning, gutted the building in which it originated, swept through the Victoria hotel adjacent, and damaged the entire block. The blaze, fed by paint and oils in the glass and paint store, shot through the buildings at a fearful rate and the exploding oils made it extremely difficult to fight. Sixty firemen labored like demons but the nine lines of hose fighting the conflagration were pitifully ineffectual. Conservative estimates place the loss at approximately $200,000.

Cyclops Charges Frame-Up In Prosecution Of Mob Murders

BASTROP, La., March 13.—An attack on the identification of the two mangled bodies found in Lake La Fourche last December, around which the state of Louisiana built its investigation of hooded mob outrages in Morehouse parish, was launched today by Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops of the parish Ku Klux Klan.

Captain Skipwith branded as a "monstrous frame up" the state's identification of the bodies of two kidnaped victims of a hooded mob. Skipwith declared he had information showing neither body found in the lake was that of the two kidnaped men.

URGES DELAY IN ISSUE OF BONDS

Heavy Burden of Taxation On Moderate Incomes, Says Taxpayer

Editor Evening News—In your issue of March 10, 1923, you state that one of Glendale's prominent citizens declared in a public address, that:

"The issue of bonds in the amount of $500,000, as is proposed in the election to be held March 15, will add an infinitesimal amount to the taxes we are now called on to pay."

Is this true?—$500,000 is nearly one-fortieth of the total assessed valuation of Glendale, and the interest on that amount of bonds will probably total as much more. This means that the voting of the proposed bonds will cost every taxpayer in Glendale a sum equal to one-twentieth of his entire property. The spreading of this cost over a series of years does not lessen the size of the burden, or change the fact that soon or late the taxpayers must pay it all.

It may be an "infinitesimal" matter to people of large current incomes derived from lucrative professions and businesses, but there are many worthy citizens of Glendale whose incomes are of fixed amounts, and of a size just sufficient for ordinary comforts. To impose upon them a new burden equal to one-twentieth of their possessions, is a serious matter.

However, I am confident that 99 per cent of such citizens would freely assume the duty and burden of educating our children if they were convinced that the money asked by our school officials was really necessary, and that it would be wisely expended.

Many educators favor the early adoption of the Junior High school plan. When that becomes effective Junior Highs will be necessary in various sections of Glendale, as well as in La Crescenta, Tujunga, Eagle Rock, etc.

Would Change Plans

Upon the completion of the new Union High school the present High School could be converted into a Junior High, which would accommodate more than the combined attendance of the Wilson Avenue and Glendale Boulevard Intermediate schools. The latter would then be available for use as Grammar schools and greatly relieve the crowded conditions complained of.

The adoption of the Junior High school plan will change the whole arrangement of our system, and time should be taken to map out a comprehensive plan under which we could use every dollar of school taxes in building permanent structures, located to best serve the future needs of the entire community.

If the new bond issue is voted next Thursday, some time must elapse before the work provided for can be done, and no real harm will occur by a little longer delay. Isn't it better business to stand present conditions for a brief period, work out our problems carefully, and then vote all the bonds necessary to build an adequate school system?

In my judgment the expenditure at this time of $500,000 in the manner proposed, would be a waste of the greater portion of that immense sum of money, and therefore very unwise—

Let's Make Haste Slowly.

PROBLEM OF MAN TONIGHT'S TOPIC

Evangelist Will Speak on Evolution in First Church Service

A large group of men met at the Glendale Presbyterian church at a 6:30 o'clock dinner last night to meet and hear Dr. Robert A. Hadden who will conduct a two weeks' series of meetings beginning last evening.

Dr. Hadden used as his subject "The Wonderful Power of the Word." He showed that many of the powers attributed to Christ are attributed to the Word also. Faith in the Word brings answer to prayer, gives assurance of life and great joy in believing.

At the service this evening Dr. Hadden will speak on "The Problem of Man." Is man a creation or an evolution? Did he spring from God or gorilla? Young people will be especially interested in hearing this discussion. It is not one of the old faded and dry-as-dust theological discussions, but an address that scintillates with human interest from beginning to end. Many who have been troubled on the question of evolution have had their doubts cleared away by Dr. Hadden's clear and forceful presentation. High school and college students have shown great interest in the address to be given this evening. He will speak at 7:30 o'clock and the public is invited to attend.

LATEST TYPE OF SIGN INSTALLED

Names of Streets Shown on Brand and Colorado Intersection

A new type of sign for Glendale is being tried out at the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Colorado street.

The new sign carries the name of the street in large letters, and above it, in smaller type, the name of the cross street.

It is a type of sign that has been very successful in New York, Boston and other eastern cities, states City Engineer B. F. Dupuy. Modeled after the signs along Broadway, New York, the Glendale sign is believed to be a distinct forward step in the sign-posting of western cities.

The lowest death rate is among the clergy and farm laborers.

Tea yields from 240 to 320 pounds an acre.

Preachers Say Theory Of Hell Unscientific

CHICAGO, March 13.—Fear of the traditional fire of hell and hope of some day being the possessor of a harp in Heaven no longer serve to keep youth in the "straight and narrow" in the opinion of several leading Chicago preachers.

The youth of today long ago discarded the orthodox idea of hell and more and more the adult is beginning to cling to the new idea, according to Rev. Ernest Tittle, as expressed in a recent address, and concurred in by many of Chicago's divines.

The old idea smacks of the dark ages, the preachers say. The psychology of hell and heaven has lost its punch, the Rev. William Chalmers Covert, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, said.

"The element of fear in religion has had its day," said the Rev. Rufus White, pastor of the People's Liberal church. "Anyone who thinks for himself will exclude the idea of hell and eternal damnation as unscientific."

Saloons Increase in Omaha, Says Report

OMAHA, Neb., March 13.—Nineteen twenty-two goes down in municipal records as the wettest year in the history of Omaha.

That announcement was made by Julius Stigge, statistical clerk in the office of the chief of police, who says more than 5,000 arrests for intoxication have been made in Omaha in the last twelve months.

The nearest approach to this mark was in 1915, when the police "jugged" 4,084 drunks, Stigge says.

"Omaha had 300 saloons before Volsteadism," says the annual report of Stiffe. "Now the city has 3,000—mostly in hip pockets."

COMMENT That's All

Ideas Of The Young
We Are All Animals
Glendale Development
European Blowup Due

By Gil A. Cowan

YOUNG men's ideas of young women, young women's ideas of young men, two topics recently discussed by a reverend gentleman in Glendale give food for thought on the part of us all.

Young men, perhaps, cherish a good young woman more than she does a good young man, for women, seemingly like to be intrigued by the rogue, especially beautiful women who see nothing exciting about the ordinarily good young man.

On the other hand a young man likes to see his ideal display some spark of life and not merely exist in the realm of goodness. Better behavior and vivaciousness can go hand in hand. Too much reserve is like a veil over the face.

One young lady, according to the pastor, called boys "young animals." Wonder if the female of the species is any different in her opinion? We all are animals for that matter, sometimes apishly so, other times mulishly so. But, usually we are quite human and just as the good Lord intended.

People are impressionistic, too much so, in fact, and a girl or boy sometimes makes the fatal mistake of jumping at false conclusions regarding ideals to be sought. One young lady says she will never be seen walking on the street with a man who smokes. Ten years from now the writer would like to meet her and find out how deeply that ideal took root.

Sometimes those with the most apparent faults present fewer real problems in life's little journey. It has often been said beauty is only skin deep, while the real beauty of the soul is hidden from sight. May not that be equally true with our faults?

Glancing over the development columns of Saturday's Evening News one must express wonderment at the progress being made here and speculate upon the possibility of the whole of Southern California becoming one great city of communities and country estates. Surely, the day is fast coming when the San Fernando, La Canada, La Crescenta and neighboring valleys will be one community of city blocks. And, as Los Angeles pushes southward and westward, from San Bernardino to the sea and from Santa Barbara to the southermost part of San Diego, it will be nothing but homes.

Glendale, at the present time, is the center of the greatest suburban effort, but Glendale is only a beginning. By 1950 Los Angeles will be the second largest city in the world. No projects are too big, no engineer's comprehension great enough to keep up with the tide.

Years of effort are being pressed into days here. The money forces of the continent and soon the world are being planted in the future of Los Angeles. Evolution is so rapid under the southland's sunkist skies that mortal mind fails to comprehend what is going on.

You may not know it, but Glendale has the greatest future any person can predict. Los Angeles has a greater future than any one dares predict, and Southern California is a magic term in other parts that arouses envy, desire, jealousy and admiration in the same stirring thought.

Ten million dollars' endowment is being sought by the University of Southern California. It ought to be 100 millions. Also, the state should provide at least ten millions for the development of the southern branch university. However, it is difficult to make people realize the potential value in higher educational institutions. And it is equally difficult to make educators understand the pleasure of the people when they give "until it hurts" to the schools.

It is about time for an internal explosion over in Europe. Things have been a little quiet the last few days, but there always is a lull before the zero hour.

In the interim, our friends, the Irish, have been battling away while our own moonshining element in these United States have provided occasional bloodshed.

It does seem as though disturbing the peace appears to be the duty of a certain element of all races and nations and creeds.

In India we note the Christian missionaries are educating the pariahs to a point where they will be able to overthrow other castes.

In Ireland the row is over religion, mostly.

And the Japanese are planning to convert all countries to Buddhism, according to a Seattle dispatch, while the Soviets would have us atheists and the Germans tie us to communism, etc.

Outside of all this we are having a grand little party, as it were, doing as we darn please out here in the west.

Losses of Ruined Bank Reach $200,000, Said

Opposes Teaching of Darwinism in Schools

Editor The Evening News—A constitutional amendment now pending in this state (Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 9) prohibits the expenditure of public funds for sectarian purposes. No such money is to be used in support of sectarian or denominational schools, and no sectarian teaching is to be permitted in the state schools.

No believer in American principles of government will question the propriety of this prohibition. But is it consistent for the state to prohibit sectarian teaching in its schools and at the same time permit the teaching (as is now commonly done in the public schools) of the Darwinian theory of the origin of the human race? What business has the state to teach that the book of Genesis is a fable? Such teaching comes in direct conflict with the religious belief of at least some of the churches in this state. There are many parents who would be as willing that their children should be taught bolshevism, as that the opening chapters of the Bible are a lie. They not only believe Genesis to be true, but regard its narrative of the creation of man and his fall in Eden as being the foundation of the whole Bible.

Why permit instruction in the state school which involves antagonism to any church? There will be no trouble if such instruction is restricted to the domain of real knowledge—of that which is demonstrably true; and why should our public schools be expected to teach anything else?

Ten Million Tons of Rain in Twelve Days

LONDON, March 13.—It's been a wet winter in London. Weather bureau reports show that during the first twelve days in February ten million tons of rain fell upon London alone.

Mr. Dollar and His Friends

From the position of a passing acquaintance to that of one of Mr. Dollar's well known friends ought to be one of our cherished ambitions.

We are all glad to make the acquaintance of Mr. Dollar, but after the meeting we should endeavor to have this acquaintance ripen into lasting friendship.

Mr. Dollar extends the hand of friendship to us. Sometimes, however, we show him such scant courtesy that he cannot be very severely criticised for seeing but little of us. This friendship must be mutual. Mr. Dollar would like to work for you but does not like temporary employment. He works best in a steady job.

His real friends are those who use him rightly. They employ him to run stores, factories, railroads, mines, in fact all successful commercial enterprises are the results of his handiwork.

This bank has become acquainted with many of his friends. Can we help to properly introduce you to him?

Start that account today and when you think of a Bank, think of our Bank—then come in and get acquainted.

The man with five dollars is treated with as much courtesy as the man with thousands.

You Need Us—We Need You

As business friends we are both made stronger.

TODAY—War clouds in England no longer scare the populace, writes David M. Church London correspondent.

TOMORROW—There are a score of candidates already shying their hats into the ring for the mayoralty contest in Denver about two months hence, writes Michael F. Dacey, Denver correspondent.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, March 13.—For the last six months England has been under the shadow of a war cloud, but it is an interesting fact that the nation seems to have become immune to war scares.

The Lloyd George government played its finale with a war setting—the locale being the Near East.

"The "peace and tranquility" Government of Bonar Law came into power under the shadow of the same war clouds undispersed.

Then along came the Ruhr invasion, with its possibilities of war.

Rumors of mobilization along the Russo-Polish borders, Albania revolutions, little Entente bickerings and the ever-present Irish troubles all reeked of possible wars.

Truly these last six months would have been tense and exciting months in America. In England they have been just six months, with the English people "carrying on."

English people seem to have become impervious to "war scares." It takes a pretty strong blow to upset the stock market, and even the most blatant newspaper posters fail to cause a commotion in the streets.

When the Near East war threat came to a crisis during the Lloyd George regime, it was on a Saturday afternoon. London went on its week-end holiday as usual, and newspapers based their headlines on football results.

Princess Mary's baby had little or no difficulty in driving the Ruhr invasion story off the front pages.

"Will England go in?" the American asks the Englishman, when discussing the possibilities of war resulting from the Ruhr invasion.

"Oh, I don't know!" comes the laconic reply. "But have you ever been bunkered on the fourth hole at Deal?"

The English just won't take rumors of war seriously any more. There is no doubt that they don't want war, and they won't have war unless the government wills it. Then they will join up just as they did in 1914 and take it as a matter of course. Perhaps it is a happy faculty the English have—this imperviousness of wars and rumors of wars.

Women constitute the majority of the passengers traveling on the air-lines out of London. Statistics show that far more women travel by air than men. Perhaps this is an indication of a stronger female courage, and perhaps it is just another indication of feminine love of comfort and luxury. Air journeys are much more simple than rail and boat journeys and less fatiguing.

Carl Hyson, an American, seems to be a sort of fly in the ointment of the London County Council. The London County Council is striving to check the growth of cabarets with stifling restrictions. It constantly changes its rules and regulations, with the consequent result that no cabaret producer knows just what part of his performance will be allowed as a permanent feature. Hyson came to England from America and is now the liveliest of the cabaret producers. He bobs up with a new idea every time the London County Council kills out one of his feature acts. At present he is staging a nightly production of the "Midnight Follies," with a chorus of three. The London County Council limited the number of performers, but Hyson went ahead with a chorus of three. Incidentally, Helen MacDonald, formerly of "Ziegfeld's Follies," is one of Hyson's latest London discoveries.

Is radio music legally music? That is the question which is puzzling licensing commissions all over England. Numerous public houses have installed radios in order that their patrons may have the latest news and concerts with their beer. Under the law a music license is necessary for any public house which furnishes music with its beer. There comes the puzzling question: Is music by radio music? Several commissions have decided that music is music even by wireless.

Congregational Church Will Install New Organ

Congregational church people are anticipating the arrival the last of this week of the pipe organ for the new church auditorium. It will be fully installed and ready for use within two weeks after its arrival. The organ is a large Hinners instrument, made in Pekin, Ill. A message received by the church office Saturday stated that the organ was then in Kansas City en route to its destination in Glendale.

Money spent in Glendale helps to make Glendale a bigger and better city.

DEAN DEFENDS MODERN GIRL

College Head Calls It Just 'Readjusting'

Sarah Louise Arnold.

Dean of Simons College, Boston, who says up-to-date young woman is just as pure as her grandmother ever was

By BETTY BAKER
For International News Service

HELENA, Mont., March 6.—What's the matter with the modern girl?

Not a single thing in the world.

Unmoral? Possibly. Immoral? Never!

You have that on the word of Dean Emerita Sarah Louise Arnold, of Simons College, Boston. And, there is probably no greater authority on the subject of girls than this same Dean Arnold. Her authority is the product of experience—about forty years of it—with girls of every sort and condition and of every nationality, creed, of every kind of training, and every lack of it, and of every temperament and inclination. Superintendent of schools, teacher in high schools, settlement worker, dean of women in college, student of human nature, and a keen-eyed, level-headed, serene and charming judge, she awards her judgment in the case of the critic versus the modern girl.

"There isn't a single thing the matter with the modern girl, not a single thing. She's really quite a remarkable young person," Dean Arnold told International News Service in an interview here.

"Then why all this powder, and these weird dances and these cigarettes, and this bobbed hair, and all the thousand and one other things that are causing the world so much concern?" she was asked.

She dismissed them all with a wave of the hand.

"Readjustment — every single one of them. The whole world has passed through an emotional crisis—the war. And the whole world is readjusting itself to the changed conditions which the war has brought about. And why shouldn't the modern girl have a chance to readjust herself? She was forced by circumstances into situations and into an existence of which she had never before dreamed of—she ceased to consider the conventions.

Enjoys Her Freedom

"And she found that she really enjoyed it, this being freed from conventions. And she intends to stay free of them. Being only human, she goes a bit too far, perhaps. She becomes what I term unmoral. She is unconventional. Conventions are merely the appearance of things. The girl of today is not thinking of the appearance of things. She is too busy doing things. A bit later, when she has time to sit down and rest a while, she will begin to learn how to deal with the conventions. But that's a thing that only experience can teach her.

Men Had Their Turn

"The men who went to war went through a big experience. And they have come home asking questions they never asked before. The women stayed at home and went through as big an experience in their way. Now they are asking questions. And although they don't know it they are both nearer heaven than they have ever been before.

"It's the most arrant nonsense to say that the girl of today is not as pure as her grandmother was. She's exactly as pure. She's just facing fundamentals. The facts of existence have been written on the sky for her to read. There need be no pretense about it. She knows and knows in a big, clean, open way—a way which will make for greater purity, because it makes for a cleanness of mind that wasn't possible before.

Not Sentimental

"The girl of today is not sentimental. She's going about her business, and she doesn't wear her heart on her sleeve. But deep down within the heart of every girl there is the fundamental fact that will make her stand straight in the face of any crisis, just as she has always done, and will bring her triumphantly through with whatever there is for her to do.

"She's too busy hustling to stand in one spot and do the things which are ordained for her by other people. She's living her own life. And in insisting upon doing that she's possibly a bit explosive. I've small doubt that there were several steam explosions before steam was entirely regulated. And, the world must not forget that behind this disregard for conventions which I call unmoral there is a tremendous force which will make itself felt in a series of useful explosions.

Individual Liberty

"The spirit of individual freedom, you know, precedes the spirit of national freedom and the consciousness of what is due the group. It is far more natural to cross a busy street than to wait for the orders of the traffic policeman, but less safe. It becomes a matter of regulation, and one must do his own regulating. He'll do it, if he is given time enough. So will the modern woman. She will regulate herself to the needs of traffic. And when she does there will be a saner and better set of traffic regulations. It's bound to happen. It's the spirit of progress and the modern woman is typical of it.

"There isn't a signle thing wrong with her. She's splendid. I've been handling girls for forty years. I ought to know, and I'm willing to say that she's just as fine and just as pure and just as sweet as her grandmother was. And she has a lot more plain, common sense—she had to learn. Conditions forced her to."

Supreme Court Ruling Fixes Limit of Appeal

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13—There is no appeal for a convicted murderer outside the court of original jurisdiction aside from an appeal to executive clemency, a decision of the supreme court in effect held. Ullah Mohammed, awaiting hanging at San Quentin, was reprieved at the last moment a few weeks ago when his attorneys secured an injunction from Superior Court Judge Troutt preventing the hanging. Judge Troutt held that a man's life was as valuable as his property and that an appeal to a court of equity was possible.

The state sought a writ of prohibition in the state supreme court to prevent Judge Troutt from further interfering with the processes of the criminal courts which had decreed Mohammed must hang. Sitting en banc the highest state court heard arguments in the case and sustained the state's appeal granting a writ against Judge Troutt to prevent his further interference with the hanging.

Denies State's Charge She Poisoned Husband

CHICAGO, March 13.—Mrs. Tillie Klimek took the stand in court and in sharp foreign accents denied the state's charge that she poisoned her third husband to death. She emphatically denied testimony of state witnesses that she had trimmed a hat with crepe to have it ready when one of the husbands died.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE DUSTING BRUSH

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, was busy sweeping in the kitchen of the hollow stump bungalow one day when the telephone bell rang.

"I'll see who it is," offered Uncle Wiggily. "I know you're busy, Nurse Jane."

And when the bunny rabbit gentleman talked into the telephone he heard the voice of Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, at the other end of the wire.

"Could Nurse Jane come over a little while and help me make a chocolate cake?" grunted Mrs. Twistytail. "I'll send you home a slice, Uncle Wiggily."

"I'll send Nurse Jane right over," promised Uncle Wiggily, who was very fond of chocolate cake. But when the bunny rabbit gentleman went to the kitchen to tell the muskrat lady to go over to the home of her friend Mrs. Twistytail, why Nurse Jane said:

"Uncle Wiggily! I can't go out now and leave the kitchen half swept. Impossible."

"Not at all impossible!" laughed the bunny uncle with a jolly twinkle of his pink nose. 'You go over to Mrs. Twistytail's and help her make the chocolate cake. And be sure to bring me a slice."

"But who is to finish doing the kitchen?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I will!" cried brave Uncle Wiggily. "I am not afraid of a little dirt. I'll sweep the kitchen from where you leave off and I'll take up the dust in a pan with the brush.

Nurse Jane thought for a moment and then she said:

"All right! It is very kind of you. I would like to get out of the kitchen for a little while and I'll bring you not one but two slices of chocolate cake!"

"This seems too good to be true," spoke Uncle Wiggily, with a jolly little twinkle of his pink nose. "Don't forget. And now, hop along, Jamie, my dear. Mrs. Twistytail will be waiting for you. I'll finish sweeping and taking up the dust in the kitchen."

And when Nurse Jane went out of the hollow stump bungalow the Fuzzy Fox, who was always hiding around looking for ears to nibble, saw her going over to the lady pig's house.

"Ah, ha! This is my chance!" thought the Fuzzy Fox to himself. "Nurse Jane is out—Uncle Wiggily is all alone! I'll sneak in and nibble his ears. I'll go in the kitchen, hide under the stove and when he isn't thinking about me I'll jump out at him and cry 'Boo!' That will frighten him so he'll forget to twinkle his pink nose and I can easily nibble his ears."

No sooner said than done. Into the house sneaked the fox, just when Uncle Wiggily was at the front door looking out to make sure Nurse Jane didn't stumble and fall. And when the muskrat lady was safely on her way to Mrs. Twistytail's, Uncle Wiggily hurried back into the kitchen to sweep it and take up the dust. He knew nothing about the Fox under the stove.

The bunny gentleman used the broom on the kitchen floor. He swept the dust up in a pile and then found the dustpan in which to take up the dirt.

"But I need a dusting brush with which to push the heap of dirt into the pan," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "Let me see now—where does Nurse Jane keep the dusting brush?"

Just then Uncle Wiggily looked

He gave a big pull.

under the stove. He saw there something fluffy and fliffy—something fuzzy and hairy.

"Ah, there's the dusting brush—under the stove!" cried the bunny. He reached under, took a strong hold and gave a big pull. Then—

"Ouch! Wow! Oh, let go; oh, stop! You're hurting me," howled a voice.

"What's that? How can I hurt a dusting brush?" asked the bunny, and he pulled harder than ever.

"You haven't the dusting brush! You have hold of my tail. Oh, don't pull it off! Don't pull my tail off!" howled the Fox, for he it was. And he was so frightened and filled with pain at Uncle Wiggily's pulls on his tail that the Fox scrambled out from under the stove and jumped out of the window. So he didn't nibble the bunny's ears.

"Ha! Ha! laughed the bunny as he found the dusting brush behind the stove and finished cleaning the kitchen. 'That was a funny mistake to make! Ha! Ha!"

I think so myself; don't you? But if the egg beater doesn't try to pick overcoats off the hat tree before they are ripe, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's taffy.

COMBINED POTENTIOMETER AND RHEOSTAT

The potentiometer has now come into extensive use on account of gaseous detector tubes and radio frequency amplification.

The Acme pot-rheo combines in a small space, and same mounting, a 200 ohm wire wound potentiometer and a 4 ohm wire wound rheostat. The controls are concentric bakelite knobs. This attractive, well made unit may be used either table mounted or panel mounted.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

By LIEUT JOHN R. IRWIN U. S. AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

INDUCTANCE AND CAPACITY

Before a student of radio can intelligently trne the receivers described in the recent articles it is imperative that he should have an intelligent understanding of the above subjects. It is not enough that the various dials on the receiver should be marked "primary ind" and secondary ind" and "primary condenser" and "secondary condenser," etc. It will not avail him much if he does not thoroughly know what will happen by twirling those handles or knobs.

There is no more perplexing problem confronting the new radio experimenter than an understanding of the proper relation between inductance and capacity in his or her receiving set. Even before he has "tuned in" his first signals the trouble may have become acute, for he is quite likely to put more store on the acquisition of a variable condenser than the necessities of the occasion warrant.

Every textbook he reads will tell him that to receive signals he must have both inductance and capacity in his receiver. The inductance he believes he has, as a characteristic of his tuning inductance coil, so-called, and he feels he must have some tangible form of capacity—in other words, a condenser.

It is true you cannot tune in without capacity, but it is also true that even a straight wire has capacity, and if the wire is wound on a tube, or in any other coil form, it has self-capacity as inevitably as a moving train has noise. Properly applied, this self-capacity contributes a large share of the signals perfectly with but the aid perhaps of small additional capacity. The circumstances governing the set must decide the amount of additional capacity required. If your antenna is large it must be remembered that it contains relatively large capacity, and vice versa, if small, it contanis the opposite, and additional capacity in the shape of a variable condenser is necessary.

The writer has, time and time again, in investigating the causes of failure to receive signals, found it due to excessive capacity. Generally a large variable condenser has been inserted in the antenna lead. It is rarely, in an amateur set for ordinary broadcasting purposes, that a condenser composed of three movable plates and four fixed ones of the average size, do not provide ample capacity as a series condenser in the antenna circuit. In the next article we will show by analogy what really happens with a manipulation of inductance and capacity.

Delinquent Angelenos Face Arrest for Taxes

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—Plans for one of the most unusual tax "raids" in the history of the local police department were laid when it became known that the arrest of about 8,000 business men of Los Angeles for failure to pay their business and occupational tax for the current year, were to be asked by Lieutenant H. McPhillips, license expert of the police department.

Efforts of the city treasurer to collect the taxes, which are now long overdue, having failed, the entire matter of collecting them was turned over to the police department, it was announced.

After careful study of the problem by Lieutenant McPhillips it was agreed that it would be impossible to go out and bring each delinquent business man into the police court for a separate proceeding in collecting his individual tax.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

BEWARE!

Beware of the habit of enjoying grievances.

There are some people in the world who would rather have a grievance to cherish and brood over, and finally bring out and raise a rumpus about, than almost any kind of pleasure.

They don't know they feel that way. If you taxed them with enjoying their grievances they would deny it furiously. That's the dangerous thing about this state of mind that it is so easy to get into without having an idea you are drifting that way.

A Fatal Mistake

Wives of husbands who give them (or who think they give them) cause for jealousy make the biggest mistake of their lives when they cultivate the grievance habit. He talks too long with a pretty girl, he stays out an hour later than he would, he dances three times with the pretty wife of a neighbor and only twice with his wife's cousin whom they were taking to the dance, and behold he finds the atmosphere of his home heavy with disapproval. If he is very fond of his wife and has not had too much of this sort of thing to put up with, he tries to find out what is wrong, and after she has sulked and remained unapproachable as long as she thinks that will work, she airs her grievance is reassured and smoothed over, and peace is restored again.

But there are many kinds of peace, as the world has recently discovered.

And this kind of peace is apt to be the 1918 variety.

And the Hundredth Time—

The first time you stretch an elastic band it will snap back very sharply. But the fortieth time it may break. And there you are!

Sensitive people are very apt to get the grievance habit. Their feelings are so easily hurt. You can hurt them without having the slightest intention of doing it or the slightest idea you have done it, until the atmosphere in their vicinity makes you suspicious.

And then you have to atone. And that means that you must make them the center of the stage and concentrate on them and give them sympathy and reassurance. Which is all very pleasant for them. All right once in a long while. But, unless their friendship is worth a great deal to you you are apt to get tired of doing it constantly.

Call Them In Quick

Self-pity is the father of the grievance habit.

And an unconscious egotism is its mother.

Sanity and common sense are its executioners. And the time to call them in to get rid of this habit which, while it may seem to bring you attention and reassurance at first will surely bring you bitterness and loneliness in the end, is just as soon as possible.

Jean's Pal.—"How do you candy orange peel?"

Answer.—Select oranges with a bright, thick skin. Peel them and cut the rinds into pieces of uniform size, about one inch long by a quarter of an inch wide. Put these pieces into a saucepan, cover them with cold water and bring almost to a boil, but do not actually boil. Pour off the scalding water and repeat this process twice again. Then add to the peel its own weight of granulated sugar, cover again with cold water and let boil until no sirup shows in the saucepan when it is held to the side. Spread on a buttered platter and when partly cool, roll the pieces in sugar. (Lemon peel is candied in the same way.) This recipe answers the request of several other Reader Friends.

G. R. M.—"How shall I bleach a white sweater which is turning yellow from being worn?"

Answer:—Soak the sweater for three hours in four quarts of water to which has been added one pint of hydrogen peroxide and one tablespoon of borax. This will bleach the sweater without injuring the wool.

GREENIE.—(1) "If I should be invited out to a formal dinner, how shall I know which knife and fork to use for the different courses? (2) When an invitation has 'R. S. V. P.' on it, is it correct to answer by 'phone?"

Answer.—You need not worry about which knife and fork to use, as the silver is laid on the table so that the outside knife, fork or spoon will always be the one to use next; that is, the ones nearest the plate are for the last courses and the outer ones for the first courses. No, it is not correct to reply to an invitation by telephone—you should write a note. Why don't you buy a good book on table service? And, you will find Kellogg's Bran a delight to eat because it is so delicious. As a cereal, sprinkled on other hot or cold cereals, or used in countless bakery batches or in cooking, its nut-like flavor will thrill your appetite—and each spoonful means so much in permanently relieving constipation and in warding off this gravest national ailment. Kellogg recipes are printed on each package.

Start the entire family eating Kellogg's Bran to-day. See the color come back to faded cheeks; see the snap that will go into lagging steps. Kellogg's Bran is wonderful. All grocers sell it!

WORK WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

Pay Expenses By Series Of Entertainments

Here are Elizabeth Ovsey (left) and Rosalie Walkinshaw, University of Southern California co-eds, who, with two other girls, will work their way through four college years by free-lance entertainments.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, March 6. — Four pretty co-eds at the University of Southern California have set a new precedent for girls working their way through college. They have banned together and called themselves the "Los Angeles Entertainers," and declare they will earn sufficient funds through semi-theatrical and outside functions to carry them through school.

The comely misses are Elizabeth Ovsey, Maxine Eyerman, Jean Smalley and Rosalie Walkinshaw, and are all freshmen at the local university. Their success at entertaining fellow students heartened them to the new venture, they said.

Miss Eyerman is an interpretative dancer and dancing instructor, Miss Smalley is a whistler. Miss Owsey is a reader and elocutionist and Miss Walkinshaw a pianist.

All of the co-ed quartet declare they have resolved not to be daunted by professional vaudevillians and entertainers who learned in the theatre. They seek the support of local "club women as well as club men" and have opened headquarters where their services for appearances can be booked.

Other co-eds at the university are said to be anxiously awaiting the success of their venture before jumping into "a new field of venture for college women."

Diet and Health

SIMPLE GOITER

When I was with the American Red Cross doing reconstruction work in the Balkans, I was sent on one of the relief expeditions to the mountain town, Majden Pek in the northeast of Serbia. I found in my medical examination of the inhabitants that practically every girl in the village and many of the boys and adults had goiters.

This was one of the goiter regions of the Balkans. Dr. O. P. Kimball, in his article on simple goiter in the February number of the American Journal of Public Health, gives the goiter districts as follows. I shall quote him directly:

"The most noted are: (1) The Alpine mountain region of Southern Europe, including all Switzerland, Northern France, Northern Italy and the Balkan States; (2) the Himalayan mountain region of Eastern and Southern Asia, the Gilget district of Northern India and the plateau regions of Western China and Eastern Mongolia; (3) the Andes mountain regions of South America, the most noted section of which is the Peruvian plateau; and (4) in North America, the entire basin of the Great Lakes, the basin of the St. Lawrence and that portion of the United States and Canada known as the Pacific Northwest. There are certain localities in these large districts in which the incidence of goiter is very high.

"For instance, in parts of British Alberta and Columbia and in some of the glacial valleys of Southern Alaska all the domestic animals have goiter; and in a well known valley of British Columbia called Pemberton Meadows, the incidence of goiter was so great that it was difficult to raise young animals, such as calves, lambs and pigs. Since 1918, however, the disease has been controlled by the addition of a small amount of iodin to the food and drink in accordance with the fundamental principle of goiter prevention."

The term goiter is applied to nearly all enlargements of the thyroid gland except those resulting from inflammation and from tumors. Simple goiter is different from the exophthalmic goiter, which is a much more severe disease accompanied by rapid heart beat, protrusion of the eye balls, trembling of the muscles, an excitable condition of the nervous system, and usually extreme emaciation (thinness). More on this later.

The real cause of simple goiter is not fully known. It is believed by some to be asociated with drinking water; and whether it is of an infectious nature or is of mineral origin, also is not known. There is one thing that is fully known, however, and that is this—there is a lack of iodin in the gland and therefore in the system or simple goiters will not develop.

Milton J. Rosenau in his book, Preventive Medicine and Hygiene, tells that the early days of the sheep industry in Michigan were found to be unprofitable because so many sheep were goiterous. The industry was about to be abandoned when the sheep suddenly began to be better in every way. The young were being born free from goiters and not developing them later. This improvement was traced directly to the change in the salt that was fed in their diet. Instead of giving them salt from some remote source, the sheep were fed salt from salt mines which were opened up in the vicinity of Detroit. It was found that this local salt contained minute traces of iodin, and it was found that these minute traces of iodin had saved the sheep industry.

Another instance: In Montana there were 1,000,000 sheep lost annually on account of goiter. The addition of small quantities of iodin salts to the food was found to prevent these goiters developing.

So we know that whatever is the initial cause of goiter, it is an iodin deficiency disease. And we further know that it is aggravated by improper hygienic and sanitary conditions and anything that makes an undue demand upon the physiologic functions of the thyroid gland.

Pullman Tax Decision To Free State Funds

SACRAMENTO, March 13.—The victory of the state of California in the Pullman tax suit before the United States supreme court is generally accepted here as a knockout blow to the pending tax suits of the two large railroad companies, whereby already $5,200,000 of tax funds have been held up.

As a result of this victory in the Pullman case, the state will be absolutely assured of victory in the pending railroad tax suits, state officials held, and impounded tax funds should very shortly become available for state purposes.

The Pullman suit was brought in 1912 and attacked the legality of constitutional amendment No. 1, on which the King tax bill was based.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Zippy.—It would be impossible to state the length of time needed to gain ten or any number of pounds. You are choosing the correct foods and should find that you are improving all the time. Cocoa butter is bought in a cake either at the drug stores or the large grocery houses.

Jeane.—On an average once in three weeks is enough for a shampoo, but there are people whose scalps are so oily that the hair must be washed oftener. Hair that is dry and brittle should not be shampooed any more than is needed for actual cleanliness, so the whole thing depends upon the requirements of each case.

Sometimes pimples infect each other and a sprinkling of flour and sulphur, or an ointment in which there is sulphur, will heal them. As your attack is always at the same spot there is a possibility this local treatment may rid you of them.

Frieda T.—If it is natural for your type to have red cheeks, you may have them by acquiring good health and inhaling enough pure air to oxygenize your blood. There are some types that would be spoiled if they had the high coloring you describe.

S. C. A. T.—Instead of washing your face so frequently, remove this excessive oiliness with a chamois. You must have a sluggish digestive tract to cause the skin to secrete so much oil. Use some mild astringent such as witch hazel on the face occasionally to tone the skin, as a condition such as yours means that the pores have become distended from this abnormal secretion.

L. H.—Alum is too severe to be used as an astringent for the skin. An astringent of this kind would cause the lines you mention, but no one should give the complexion that kind of treatment. Most skins are benefited by an occasional astringent as this will make the skin firm, stopping the muscles from sagging and therefore preventing lines from forming. Orris root powder is used in combination with other powders for the skin or hair. Lemon juice will bleach hair but it is hardly strong enough to bleach this dark hair on your skin, but you can do this with peroxide.

Girlie.—A great many people have cured themselves of biting the nails but putting some simple thing like "Bitter Aloes" under their tips. As the habit is an unconscious act this unpleasant taste is a reminder each time you forget.

Marie.—Olive oil will not help lashes grow longer. If you would care for a tonic which will do this I shall be glad to mail the formula for it on receipt of a s. a. e.; but even with this excellent tonic it will take longer than the limited time of two weeks in which you desire such an improvement.

CLAIM BURGLARS BROKE IN HOUSE

Eagle Rock Resident Finds Home Lighted Up But Thieves Vanish

EAGLE ROCK, March 13.—What was thought to be an attempted burglary occurred Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Blunt of 24 Ellinwood drive. Mrs. Blunt went down to the market early in the evening and on her return found the lights turned on, but no signs of anyone in the house, and the doors locked as she had left them. A telephone call brought City Marshal Claude Bramble to the scene, but no trace of the intruder was found. It is thought that the burglar was frightened away by the return of the owner.

The minstrel show given by the American Legion on Saturday night at the Central school house was even a greater succeess than on Thursday night. A capacity house greeted the local musicians, and the numbers proved very popular. The legion has been requested to repeat the performance next Saturday night for the benefit of the school children.

The Card Party

The card party under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club, which was announced for Monday afternoon at the Women's Club house at Eagle Rock, was postponed on account of the funeral of Mrs. Grace Saurborn, who was a member of the club. The card party will be held next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The game is Five Hundred. Mrs. A. R. Rose and Mrs. Ed Thompson will be the hostesses. All women of the valley are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Kohler of Bloomfield, N. J., who have been visiting Mrs. Belle Baker of 236 Ellinwood drive for the past two weeks, left for their home in the East this morning.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 13.—Major league baseball, always a volcano with its seething undercurrent of backstairs politics, seems about to break out in another internal war. From Chicago, Judge Landis issues a decree that the left hand of Rube Benton may be permitted to appear in National league box scores without further notice. From San Antonio, John McGraw, the last big time manager to employ Benton, goes on record to the effect that Landis is eminently justified in rendering this verdict.

From Los Angeles, John A. Heydler president of the National league, is quoted as saying that he is gratified to note that Benton is quite a deserving individual, but that this will not prevent him from barring the pitcher in the circuit he controls.

Benton, according to Landis and McGraw, is a much abused person. According to Heydler, he is an undesirable and will not be tolerated in the national league. It seems like a case for mediation of the most discreet and diplomatic type.

That Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Reds, will make a fight for what he deems to be his rights, is inevitable, particularly with Landis on his side of the fence, to say nothing of McGraw, who speaks in laudable terms of Benton's honesty. That John Heydler will contest the issue from the drop of the hat is also a foregone conclusion. Heydler is one of those slow-to-anger-mighty-in-wrath individuals difficult to dispose of once he arrives at a conclusion.

Landis, on the other hand, has knowledge of the case only by hearsay, but he can hang Heydler and the National league on the limb of public opinion and knows it. Benton, termed an "undesirable" now, was allowed to pitch for the Giants, following the Herzog investigation until he was thought to have played out his string as a useful member of the profession. Then he was permitted to take his left hand eccentricities to the St. Paul club where he did so well during the succeeding year and a half that he was purchased by the Cincinnati Reds.

Knowing that it had committed itself, tacitly on Benton's eligibility by countenancing his activities in New York and St. Paul after the charges against Herzog had collapsed and Benton had been more or less discredited, the National league placed the matter in Heydler's hands, with the understanding that he was to be guided by Landis' ruling. In other words, the National league passed the buck.

Refuses To Comment

CHICAGO, March 13.—Judge Landis declined today to comment on the statement of John A. Heydler, president of the National league, who is quoted as saying that Rube Benton will not be allowed to pitch in the National league.

In spite of the fact that the statement is contrary to the ruling of Judge Landis, in giving Benton a clean bill of health, the incident is closed, according to Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to the commissioner.

"Judge Landis' decision is final," O'Connor declared today. "He has nothing to add to his original summing up of the case."

"Come Back" Champions

BY BEATING HARRY GREB, GENE TUNNEY IS THE LATEST THUMPER TO REVERSE THE DECISION AND REGAIN A TITLE FROM THE FIGHTER WHO HAD DEFEATED HIM FOR IT
GENE TUNNEY
STANLEY KETCHEL WAS THE FIRST MODERN FIGHTER TO WIN BACK A TITLE FROM THE MAN WHO HAD WRESTLED IT FROM HIM, BILL PAPKE
OLD JACK BRITTON LOST HIS WELTER TITLE TO TED KID LEWIS—BUT HE BECAME CHAMPION AGAIN BY A VICTORY OVER LEWIS, WINNING IT BY A KNOCKOUT
PETE HERMAN BEATEN BY JOE LYNCH FOR THE BANTAM CROWN, CAME BACK EIGHT MONTHS LATER AND TOOK BACK THE TITLE FROM JOE
WOOD COWAN

When the judges proclaimed Gene Tunney the winner in his fight with Greb at Madison Square Garden last month, it signalled the performance of a feat that only three other fighters of the last forty years have been able to accomplish—that is winning back the title from the man who had taken it away from them.

Confidence plays a mighty big role in the make-up of a fighter. The thumper who suffers a knockout at the hands of an opponent has lost at least 25 per cent of his effectiveness the next time they meet. Third-raters often have the Indian sign on champions. Willie Meehan beat Dempsey every time they met.

Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel put on some real battles together in their day. When Stanley won the middle-weight title Papke was soon matched against him. Ketchel lost that fight and the championship by a K. O., but less than three months later the two met again and Ketchel reversed the verdict and regained the crown.

Next time this feat occurred brings us down to 1917, and old Jack Britton plays the leading role. Ted Kid Lewis had beaten Britton and won the welter title from him in twenty rounds at Dayton. Skip two years and the two meet again. Jack cracked Lewis on the chin in the ninth round and won back the title by the K. O. route at Canton, O.

Here's Pete Herman loses his bantam title to Joe Lynch in 1920 at the Garden in fifteen rounds to a decision. Seven months later Lynch hands back the crown to Herman in a scrap held in Brooklyn.

Then along comes Gene Tunney with the light-heavyweight medal dangling on his chest. When he met Harry Greb last May he lost said medal in the scuffle that ensued. Last month these two thumpers met for the second time to settle the championship, and Tunney got the decision—making the fourth champion to stage a comeback and regain the title from the man who had taken it from him.

The World Over

"Thanks, not interested."

That is the reply of Jack Dempsey to an offer of $100,000 to meet Tommy Gibbons.

Wonder what Jack would reply to such a query if there were any possibility of its being put to him a dozen years from now?

There are many ring followers who believe that Kearns, Dempsey's manager, is not as shrewd and clever a man as he pretends to be for not picking up these extra hundred thousand dollar purses that are lying around loose for the mere effort of affixing a signature. Three or four of these hundred thousand dollar bouts would annually go a long way toward building up the exchequer and, what is more important, keep the champion from retrograding at the rate he must be slipping under his present regime of no work in the ring. In view of the mediocrity of all the present heavyweights, any of them would be mere "pickings," and there would be little risk.

Miss Doreen Kavanaugh, California state golf champion is starting out the 1923 season almost at the peak of her game and, eliminating the psychological uncertainties of the game, is expected to show to the best advantage she ever has exhibited. With a little more experience in competition, Miss Kavanaugh eventually is expected to become a national golfing figure by her friends. Whether or not she will take part in any of the national women's events still remains to be seen.

While professional winter baseball came a cropper when it was tried out year before last in California, it is entirely a different proposition as far as the amateurs are concerned. Winter baseball among the lily whites is gaining in popularity as evidenced by the scores of leagues that are at play in every section of the state. In San Francisco alone, there are a half dozen leagues each made up of from six to ten teams and they play a regular schedule throughout the winter months for a championship trophy. One of these leagues is fostered by a newspaper, another comprises teams financed by various big mercantile organizations, and so it goes.

Now is the time for all good baseball club managers to declare that their team is the best that has represented the organization and that if they don't win the pennant, at least the other clubs in the league will know they have been through a battle.

FIRPO FLATTENS BRENNAN IN 12TH

Argentine Caveman Wallops Way to Fistic Fame in Gory Battle

NEW YORK, March 13.—Luis Angel Firpo, the well known human being, bludgeoned his way to a place among the fistic elite at Madison Square garden last night by knocking Bill Brennan flatter than a glass of stale beer, with a looping, overhead right to the back of the neck. The knockout came after two minutes and thirty-seven seconds of the twelfth round and was quite genuine.

Not a few dissenters, however, were disposed to refer to it as a "million dollar dive," but we fail to agree on that point.

We happened to be sitting not more than four feet from the point where Brennan breathed his last, so to speak, and if ever a man was out, that man was Brennan. He stirred for the first time at the count of eight, and was still semi-conscious at the fateful ten. It was several minutes before Bill began to realize what it was all about.

It was something of a barroom fight, and until the knockout, Firpo was hardly an impressive figure. His ring manners are clownish in the extreme.

Just as he stands today, the noble senor is nothing but a fur-bearing cave man, rough, strong and uncouth, with a terrible wallop in his right hand and the fiercest fighting face a man ever wore. From the fifth round on, he gushed cataracts of rich, dark Latin blood from a cut on his forehead, his eyes glaring through the red maze, almost maniacal in expression. He was a ghastly object.

The blood seemed to have some effect on whatever judgment of distance Firpo possessed, for he seldom landed with effect from the seventh to the eleventh rounds, during which Brennan outscored his man at will, giving him a slight lead on points when the fateful twelfth began.

Firpo came out of his corner with a rush, having taken some of the ambition out of Brennan with a right rip to the body in the preceding round. They met near Bill's corner and proceeded to trade punches, an unpardonable mistake on Brennan's part. Firpo shot in a right to the head, and while Bill's head was moving up and down, an arching right hand swing caught Brennan somewhere on the back of the neck. Face downward, Bill was counted out.

URGE VOTERS TO AID BOND ISSUE

Needs of Grand View School District Explained by P. T.-A. President

The Grand View school district will vote on the Glendale school bond issue on Thursday, March 15, at the Central Avenue school. The voting booths will be open from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Residents of this district regard it as highly important that every registered voter cast a ballot on these imperatively needed school improvements. If this bond issue carries, the Grand View district will benefit by the addition of several new school rooms, it was explained today by Mrs. Guy W. Finney, president of the Grand View Parent-Teachers' association. Mrs. Finney is making an active canvass for the school bonds. In addition to more class rooms, furniture, folding chairs and such improvements as cement sidewalks, a flagpole and a sprinkler system are needed at the present Grand View school building, according to Mrs. Finney.

Arrangements have been made she says, to have automobiles to take the voters to the polls on election day. The Grand View Parent-Teachers' association intends to organize a reading circle in connection with the new library at the schoolhouse. Members will be present at the school next Thursday to greet parents and explain the progress of their children attending the school.

Saint's Heart String Will Be Exhibited

BOSTON, March 13.—A first-class relic of the body of St. Francis Xavier, a cord taken from close to the heart of the great Jesuit apostle of the Indies, has been obtained from Rome and will be exposed for Veneration at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Harrison avenue. The relic was obtained through the efforts of the Rev. John J. Geoghan, S. J., rector of the church.

Union Carpenters Urge Issue of School Bonds

The Carpenters' local, No. 563, at their meeting in the K. of P. hall last night, went on record as being in favor of the school bond issue, announces J. Foster, president. A fine talk on the subject was given by Col. James W. Everington.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

"Just Tony," the great Fox feature, featuring Tom Mix and his famous horse, Tony, shows for the last times at the Glendale theatre today.

The wonderful performance of Tom's thoroughbred is a thing not to be missed. The story, based on Max Brand's "Alcatraz," is delightfully entertaining and furnishes a wonderful blend of thrills and heart throbs.

Aside from its human and dramatic appeal, "Just Tony" contains some unusual scenic background and is absorbing in incident and faithful in detail. Many who have seen it have voted it Mix's best film.

The story is that of a horse whose feelings are so stirred by the cruelty of his captors that he turns against them, entering upon a bandit career—until a man comes who can show him the true love of man for horse.

The poorest Arab woman paints her eyes with kohl to make them appear large and more brilliant.

The T. D. & L.

"The White Flower," now showing at the T. D. & L. theatre, is a Paramount production featuring Betty Compson.

It is an entirely different type of picture from "Kick In," which last featured Miss Compson, reminding one rather of the beautiful, languorous gems of the South Seas D. W. Griffith used to turn out.

"The White Flower" tells the story of the lovely daughter of an American father and a Hawaiian mother. This distracting creature falls in love with a young American, blood calling to blood. But when his fiancee arrives from the States, things happen. In the end, however—well, really, it wouldn't do to give that away!

The blindworm is not blind; neither is it a worm, but a kind of lizard.

'Broom Handle' Club Is Latest Paris Fad

PARIS, March 13.—Fat men may be popular, but the fat lady is always awkward. especially in these days of straight, slinky clothes.

The "Broom - handle Club" is Paris' latest way of showing its approval of the lean lady. Two conditions are absolutely necessary in order for a young woman to join this club—one must measure at least 5 feet 5 inches in stocking feet and weigh not an ounce over 130 pounds.

The "Broom - handles" in Paris number about thirty-six and for the most part are young and pretty. Very few of them are married, for it appears that when "Broom-handles" are married they soon lose their slim lines and are compelled to resign from the club. One year of married life changes the 130 pounds to 140.

"Broom - handles" are much more popular than their sisters, the "petits pots," the fat, chubby creatures who are so difficult to clothe in the modern dress. Fashion designers pick all their mannequins from the "broom-handles," for they know they will bring them the biggest sales.

Woman, 86, Will Visit King Tut and Carthage

CHICAGO, March 13.—Being 86 years of age does not bar Mrs. Lydia Avery Coonley Ward, a former Chicago resident, from activity. Mrs. Ward plans a trip to Egypt, where she will visit the tomb of King Tut-ankh-Amen as a member of the archeological expedition which will excavate the ruins of ancient Carthage.

RECORDS TUMBLE IN TAX RETURNS

Filings Continue to Pour Into Revenue Office In Growing Flood

All records will be broken for income tax receipts in the southern California district, if collections from March 1 to March 8 are any indication.

Income tax collections for that period of 1923 were $1,335,193, as compared with $589,100 for the corresponding period of 1922, an increase of 225 per cent. If this rate of increase is carried out for the remainder of the filing period a new record will be set, according to Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell.

The total number of returns filed up to March 10 was 152,301. This means that during the four days remaining of the filing period, which expires on March 15, 72,699 returns must be filed, as Collector Goodcell estimates the total filing at 225,000. This means 18,000 per day.

Use Branch Offices

In order to relieve the congestion at the Federal building, Collector Goodcell urges taxpayers to use the branch offices at the Union Bank & Trust company, Eighth and Hill, Chamber of Commerce, 130 South Broadway, and Chamber of Commerce, Hollywood.

A grand galaxy of motion picture stars made their annual contribution to Uncle Sam yesterday. Bill Hart, Katherine Williams, Lon Chaney, Ben Turpin and Grace Darmond paid tax running into the thousands, while Baby Peggy, the youngest local patron of Uncle Sam, sent in a tax check that amazed revenue officials.

Figures already available indicate that in the district there are 182,000 persons with net incomes under $5,000, and 25,000 with incomes over $5,000.

Calls on Women Not Part Minister's Job

DEFIANCE, Ohio, March 13.—"The business of the present-day clergyman is not so much to call on women in the afternoon as to set in operation such movements as will bring about right thinking and will correct the wrong in social, business, industrial and governmental relationships," declared Rev. William A. Rex, new pastor of the local Presbyterian church, addressing the Exchange Club.

Ohio Man Charged With Cashing Check Twice

MIDDLEPORT, Ohio, March 13—Accused of cashing the same check twice, W. H. Rice, of Point Pleasant, was held under $500 bond here. It was charged that Rice cashed a $45 check in a store, picked it up along with the money, walked to another store, where he again cashed the check, and left Middleport.

Houses of Rubber Are Now Possible, Claimed

LINCOLN, Eng., March 13.—The rubber house, which many residents of earthquake stricken districts have wished for, is now a possibility.

The lightest solid ever produced is soon to be manufactured here. The substance is a product of vulcanized rubber expanded by gas under pressure. It is three times more buoyant than cork and impervious to water and should make ideal building material.

Portia Perfect, Claim Of Woman Educator

BOSTON, March 13.—Portia was the perfect woman, according to Mrs. Martha Moore Avery, director of the School of Political Economy, speaking at the Public Library.

According to Mrs. Avery Shakespeare's Portia was gentle, submissive and not a feminist. Man must rise to his dignity. He is the head of the family in spite of all that radical women have said or may say. The only preservation of these United States is in keeping the home alive and in reviving the true spirit of wifehood, idealized by Portia.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 13—Constant discoveries of interest are made inside Harkness Memorial, the $7,000,000 structure given Yale University in memory of the late Charles W. Harkness, of Standard Oil fame, though the structure has been in use but two years. Students using a meeting room on the main floor have just worked out the meaning of a series of elaborate carvings about the side walls, and find them to describe the entire history of Yale from its founding in 1702 down to date.

Nonagenarian Goes to Jail on Threat Charge

WALLA WALLA, Wash., March 13.—Thomas Robertson, 90, serving a sentence of from six months to five years in the penitentiary here for threatening the life of his 76-year-old son-in law, is believed to be the oldest man ever incarcerated in a state prison.

Robertson was sentenced from San Juan county, in the northeast corner of the state. The long trip to Walla Walla was so hard that he was confined for some time in the prison hospital for medical attention.

Prison records show the aged convict is a "second timer." He was sentenced for second degree murder on April 26, 1902. The sentence was commuted August 1, 1908, for good behavior.

A dispute with his son-in-law over the possession of a farm caused his present trouble. Robertson formerly owned the property, but mortgaged it. His daughter and her husband redeemed the mortgage and assumed control of the farm. The old man, however, could not reconcile himself to the fact that the place was no longer his and started trouble which resulted in his being sent to the San Juan county farm.

He broke away from the county farm, was captured, but again escaped.

When Guests Come

It is evidence of real hospitality to show them a bath room that is "theirs." The privacy and convenience of such arrangements are in pleasant contrast to the usual one bath room dwelling. The home thus equipped is far more comfortable for both family and guests.

In the usual home—to give every member of the household full comfort and convenience—more than one bath room is at all times needed. The additional equipment increases property value by far more than it costs.

Best of all, this improvement is easily made, at small expense, in dwellings already builded. An unused alcove, a large closet, the end of a hall—any space as small as five feet square—can be made into a modern, sanitary bathroom.

'FEVER GIRL' IS SORRY FOR FAKE

Woman Who Fooled Doctors Called Malingerer by livestigator

ESCANABA, Mich., March 13.—Evelyn Lyons, the 'fever" girl, whose strange hoax of 115 degrees of "fever" confounded the medical world, is not seriously ill and will recover in a short time, her physician, Dr. Fred Defnet announced today. It was Dr. Defnet who revealed the girl had used a miniature hot water bottle to create an artificial temperature.

The girl became hysterical after the discovery late yesterday. Her condition became worse for a short time, due to excitement. It was said by attending physicians today, however, she was not in danger.

Desire for nation-wide publicity probably caused the girl to perpetrate the hoax, physicians said.

The action of the girl was described as "hysterical malingering" by Dr. Morris Fishbein, assistant editor of the American Medical Journal, who was sent to Escanaba to make an investigation. He said the girl had been accustomed to making complaints to physicians that she suffered from various illnesses and always demanded much attention.

The trick of creating a temperature of more than 114, was consummated by touching the hot water bottle, unknown to physicians, to the thermometer, which she kept concealed in bed.

The "fever girl" is penitent today, asking forgiveness of those she deceived and declaring it all started as a "joke."

"It was a joke at first," she declared in tears, 'and then I tried to help the doctors and save them from the fakirs and now I'm scorned by everybody."

Mr. Haddock was one of speakers at last week's barbecue luncheon when the realtors of Tujunga, La Crescenta, La Canada and Montrose were the guests of the local board and his predictions regarding the future of Glendale and Southern California at that time made a deep impression on all who heard him.

LOCAL LINES TO HANDLE TRAFFIC

Credit Association Backs Move to Install Bus System Here

their care. Such an arrangement will only be made, Mr. Radke declares, after the most searching investigation of the financial and personal reliability of the men in question.

The action of the Glendale Credit association is expected to bring the transportation problem to a head immediately and to insure the installment of a system that will afford up-to-date facilities to the residents of every section of the city to come to town to transact their business, and also to make it easier for the school children to reach whatever school they may be attending.

Development Delayed

As matters stand at present, Mr. Radke claims, persons who would otherwise come and settle in Glendale are deterred from doing so by the lack of facilities for sending their children to school, for reaching the business section, and for the logical development of the many new additions and sub-divisions that are being laid out in and around Glendale. These outlying sections, he asserts, are not served by the street car lines, and it is the intention of those who are working to bring the project to a successful conclusion to overcome the present difficulties and to render Glendale citizens practically independent of street cars.

Representatives of the Glendale Credit association are now in communication with a number of automobile manufacturers with a view to selecting the proper kind of vehicles for the local traffic, and a decision is expected within a few days, when the first definite steps to inaugurate a comprehensive and flexible bus service in Glendale will be taken.

Another important decision that was taken by the association at yesterday's meeting was to pass a resolution condemning the injunction suits that have been started to halt the purchase by the city of the Verdugo Park site and the site for the proposed Glendale airport. The resolution voiced the approval of the association of the course adopted by the city officials in both instances.

A large amount of routine business was transacted during the meeting.

PENDROY STARTS FURNITURE DEPT.

Steady Demand by Customers Leads to Purchase of Additional Stock

Pendroy's department store announces the conversion of its third floor into a furniture and drapes salon, and is offering a special week of introductory prices on all overstuffed parlor and living room suites, dining and bedroom suites, chairs, tables, sets rugs and drapes of many styles and designs.

William A. Baker has taken over the management of this new department and while still retaining supervision of the basement, has put Mrs. Baker in charge there.

"We went into the furnishing and drapes business because of an insistent demand from our patrons" states Manager Baker. "Finding ourselves doing a heavy volume of business in this department, we were practically compelled to lay in the large stocks now on display.

"We are in a position to furnish vacant houses and apartments from top to bottom, and have recently equipped the apartments of A. G. Smith at 126 East Elk avenue, the apartments of W. W. Walker at 245 South Kenwood street, and are now outfitting Mrs. Carpenter's apartments at Hawthorne and Orange."

Landis Lifts Ban on Pitcher Rube Benton

ORLANDO Fla., March 13.—Frank Harding, a humble recruit, who reported to the Cincinnati Reds today, brought the first direct word from Judge Landis that Rube Benton will be allowed to pitch for the Reds this year, regardless of what John A. Heydler, president of the National league, may have to say about it. Harding was on the train with Judge Landis, coming into Jacksonville yesterday and introduced himself to the commissioner.

He asked the judge about Benton, over whose eligibility a controversy has raged. Landis replied that everything was settled, Harding said.

"I have carefully investigated Benton's case," the commissioner is quoted as saying. "And I find him as clean as any man in baseball."

REVEAL STORM'S TOLL OF DEATHS

Southern and Central States Resume Connections With Outer World

ATLANTA, Ga., March 13.—Today the facts regarding the terrific windstorm which struck the southeast Sunday began to trickle to the outside world as wire repairs were made and communication restored. From Jackson, Tenn., came confirmation of reports that twenty persons had been killed when the tornado wrecked Pinson and spread destruction about it.

The number of injured, however, now is placed at less than seventy-five, the latest report putting the total at more than fifty.

A story of heroism reached International News Service from Jackson.

A mere youth, who has not been identified and who vanished as soon as he had performed his mission, started on horseback to Pinson from Jackson with news of the disaster. Finding the roads impassable, he abandoned his horse and struggled through mud, rain and the raging wind on foot. He reached Jackson late and spread the alarm. The known dead at Pinson, it was reported, today are: Mrs. J. L. James, wife of the pastor of the First Methodist church; Mrs. B. G. Vantreez and two daughters, Madge and Mabel; 4-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ervin and their 6-year-old son, Howard; John Kerrent and his wife, negroes; Henry Neal, Eugene Warren, John Warren, John Padden, Dewitt Robinson and Devaugh Atkins, all negroes.

Mississippi and northern Alabama reported heavy damage to farm property.

More Deaths Feared

JACKSON, Tenn., March 13.—Twenty dead are lying in the morgue here today and at least forty seriously injured have been taken to local hospitals, victims of the storm which swept away the residential section of Pinsburg and practically erased the little town of Deanburg, near here.

Many of the injured are in a very critical condition and further deaths are feared.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 13.—Incomplete reports today show the storm which swept central states yesterday and early today had taken a toll of two lives in Ohio and inflicted property damage that will mount into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Southern Ohio felt the hardest effects of the storm. Buildings were unroofed, thousands of telephone and telegraph poles were blown down and a number of cities were cut off for hours from all communication by wire.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 13.—Nine persons were killed in Kentucky in the hail and wind storm which swept across the country, according to compilations today. Property damage throughout the state was heavy. Crippled telegraph and telegraph communications were being restored this morning.

LECTURER TELLS OF GAS ENGINES

Willys-Knight Owners Hear Expert Discuss Motors At Local Agency

Silent Knights of the Sleeve Valve gathered last night at 228 South Brand boulevard in the salesroom of the Willys-Knight and Overland agency to hear a lecture by F. W. Lawton, direct factory representative, on the subject of "Internal Combustion."

George T. Smith, local agent, acted as master of ceremonies. He expressed his pleasure at the large number of Knight owners present.

A film showing the opening of a new road connecting southern New Mexico and Arizona was shown. This was followed by a comedy reel. Eddie Moniot's three-piece orchestra furnished syncopation for the event.

Harry C. Kennedy, local sales manager, stated that every person who has owned a Willys-Knight for at least six months is eligible for membership in the new organization known as Silent Knights of the Sleeve Valve.

"Mr. Lawton's talk on motors was undoubtedly one of the most enlightening that has ever been given in Glendale," remarked Mr. Kennedy. "It was given in such a manner that the public was able to assimilate it very easily."

TAKE PHOTOS OF LASSEN CRATER

Army Flyers Discover New Outlet Being Formed For Lava Flood

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—An aerial reconnaissance of Mount Lassen by army air service flyers has revealed the formation of a new crater just east of the main peak and in the vicinity of the old crater, a study of photographs taken by Dewitt C. Goldsborough and his observer, Sergeant Bush, today showed.

Hovering so closely over the steaming pit that they were almost overcome by the sulphurous fumes arising, the aviators in a freezing temperature viewed the volcano from all angles. They were forced to fly at a height of 13,000 feet to reach Mount Lassen which rears itself 10,473 feet toward the sky.

A black space where the deep snows of the winter had been melted by the fierce volcanic heat readily identified the spot where the latest eruptions have been taking place.

Shortly after the aerial reconnaissance another eruption occurred which probably would have been fatal to Goldsborough and Bush had it taken place while their frail plane was hovering over the crater. Observers expressed belief that the latest disturbance was accompanied by a rain of small rock blown from the mouth of the crater.

Another Chicken Joins List of Big Producers

P. F. Rentfrow of 119 West Broadway joined the ranks of the producers of large eggs, when one of his prize Rhode Island hens yesterday laid a perfect specimen size 6⅛ by 7¾ inches.

Conjecture runs high as to whether this egg is the largest laid by a Glendale hen so far this month.

VARIED PROGRAM FOR ELKS LODGE

Cavanah Studios Entertain With Dramatic and Music Numbers

The Cavanah School of Music, Art and Science, at 520 North Kenwood street last night presented a program for the enjoyment of local Elks.

About 250 Elks were present at the weekly meeting. The program was preceded by a short business session at which Arthur H. Dibbern of 512 East Lomita street presided as exalted ruler.

"The Man in the Shadow" was the title of a dramatic reading by Carter Moore of 707 East Colorado street which was much applauded.

Julius Kranz of 115 West Eulalia street played "Ave Maria" by Shubert, and "Enchantment" by himself, as violin solos. The applause was so vigorous that he interpreted Dvorak's "Humoresue" as an encore.

Two tenor solos were sung by Howard E. Cavanah of 520 North Kenwood street. They were "A Resolve" by Fontenilles, which was sung in French, and "I Dreamed That I Heard You Singing" by Marshall, who also wrote "I Hear You Calling."

Duets were sung by Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cavanah, "Come, Sing to Me" by Thompson, and "At Dawning" by Cadman.

Miss Lila Litch of 424 North Louise street, who is connected with the Emerson School of Expression at 730 South Glendale avenue as well as the Cavanah school, was the accompanist for a quartet consisting of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cavanah, Mrs. W. Q. Widdows of 1246 Winchester street, and Myron Carman of 363 Salem street. They sang "I Love a Little Cottage" by O'Hara and "In An Old Fashioned Town" by Squires. Mr. Cavanah stated that this did not refer to Glendale.

The program was well received and Elks present expressed their appreciation.

MORE FUNDS FOR STATE ARE SEEN

Supreme Court Decision to Bring Seven Millions, Solons Declare

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 13.—Nearly seven million dollars more state revenue is in prospect, over and above the $80,000,000 budget estimate, according to political observers who today construed the decision of the United States supreme court in the Pullman appeal that California's system of taxation on interstate carriers' gross earnings is constitutional. On second thought, however, it is pointed out by solons that it is not probable this sum will be at the disposal of the present legislature as the Southern Pacific and other corporations still have their cases pending. Litigation has lasted more than 10 years over the King tax bill. It is predicted the railroads will pay the $5,200,000 already due and $1,600,000 penalties and interest in the not far distant future to avoid impounding the funds. If this is done immediately it will give the legislature something to work against in providing for the various departments and institutions curbed by the administration's program for economy.

Destruction by fire of the Sonoma State farm home for women, late yesterday while Superintendent Blanche Morse was appearing before the legislature committees in a plea to save the place, added to the excitement around the lobbies, and sessions opened this morning with that thrill attendant on a children's Christmas tree party.

Propagandists Busy

Should you see a solon's desk at the present moment in the capitol building you would be aware that propagandists are leaving no stone unturned to defeat the governor's budget.

And the total ignorance of these critics is appalling. For instance, over the signature of a well known Glendale school man it is charged that the Los Angeles offices of the state department of education will be closed under the terms of the budget. That is not a fact, and perusal of the figures, which may be obtained at The Glendale Evening News office, shows the only curtailment made in the Los Angeles office is that of janitors.

What seems worse, however, is the charge that the department of physical education has been eliminated from the school system. Perhaps the professor does not know there never has been a department of physical education, but it is a function of the office of the state superintendent of public instruction. If Will C. Wood cuts out the work, that is his lookout, in the view of administration supporters.

It is plainly evident to an observer that the California schoolmasters are more devoted to playing politics and spreading propaganda than they are to educating the young. All of which is likely to be revealed in the budget considerations by joint committees of both the assembly and senate.

Richardson Praised

Ripping the masks from the politico - educators sometimes proves to be an unpleasant task, but Governor Richardson is getting letters of thanks from all over the state for taking the lead in the renaissance.

Assemblyman Charles W. Cleary of Lindsay yesterday showed he had been swayed by the schools' influence when he attacked the governor's budget. There were others, too, but when it comes to the real test, that of putting the program in effect, the results may show Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce knows more about monetary needs of administrative departments than Mr. Cleary, et al.

Mrs. Frank C. Weller arrived in the capital over the week end to join her assemblyman husband here. She told of the thrilling escape of a prisoner, one Herbert Upton, in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Larkin, from the Pullman car in which she was riding.

During the night Upton went through the car window in the vicinity of Fresno, taking his iron wristlets, pillow slips and pajamas. The train was delayed until the sheriff was sure his prisoner had gotten out of the vicinity.

STAFF OF LOCAL POSTOFFICE CUT

Action of Department Means Crippling of Service, Declares Jackson

Complete demoralization of the Glendale postoffice is threatened as a result of a decision received from Washington this week, by which orders have been communicated to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson to curtail the present force and to cease paying the clerks overtime for the work they are called on to do in the handling of the mail.

As the force stands at present, there are six men on the extra list who are called on to work in cases of emergency or to help out during the rush hours. The appropriation for payment of these extra men is made quarterly, but so great has been the demand for their services during the present quarter that the money that had been appropriated to last until March 31 will be exhausted tomorrow, and this part of the service in the local office will be entirely cut off.

It has also been customary, in the past, to work some of the regular office force overtime to cope with the work in the postoffice, but the instructions that have come from the postoffice department in Washington unequivocally order the postmaster to cut down on the overtime work, and this means, according to Postmaster Jackson, that the only means provided for handling the present and constantly growing volume of mail have been taken away from him.

No Money Available

The postoffice department has adopted this course in the face of insistent demands for more help for the local office, which is working with the same force as was employed here when this office was separated from the Los Angeles office at the end of 1921. As a sop to the Glendale office the department has advised Postmaster Jackson that the matter of setting aside more funds for the office will be taken up again in July, when it is hoped that more money will have been made available, but in the meantime the Glendale office will be called on to stagger along, not with its present insufficient staff, but with a force that will be reduced to a point where it will be a physical impossibility for it to handle the mail with anything approaching efficiency.

Postmaster Jackson recently recommended to the postoffice department that the present delivery system be extended to points in the city where it had not reached before, or where the service had not been in keeping with the growth of the city's population. Not only has this request been refused, but the staff will be cut to a point where even this service will have to be still further reduced, and that in the business section of Glendale will also be cut to a degree that will seriously incommode the merchants of the city. At present there are two deliveries in the residential sections of the town and three in most of the business sections. These deliveries will be reduced in the residential sections to one a day, and to two or even one daily in the business district, according to the present predictions.

Various civic bodies are now getting into action and are laying before the postoffice department the absolute necessity to shoot square with Glendale people and with the Glendale postoffice, and it is hoped that their protests will carry weight enough with administration officials to insure the proper maintenance of the service here and its development as the needs of the city call for it.
